A Bad Year for Tomatoes

The first show of the season opens Thursday, October 19th! A Bad Year for Tomatoes is directed by senior Haley Forrester. Performances are October 19, 20, 25 and 26. Shows begin at 7:30 in the Little Theater. Seating in the Little Theater is now assigned. Tickets can be purchased online or in or in our Box Office.

John Patrick's comedy A Bad Year For Tomatoes follows the story of a successful Hollywood actress, Myra Marlowe, who becomes tired of show biz and decides to move out to a middle-of-nowhere town in Vermont called Beaver Haven. She tries to begin writing her autobiography, but her nosy neighbors keep interrupting her work, and her agent continues to press business offers (and proposals) on her! What better way to get rid of her unwanted guests than to create a fake, crazed sister character?

The cast features Madeleine Peara as Myra, Ami Sarfati as Tom, and Darien Mann as Piney. Other characters include Kelsey Juliana as Reba, Gabby Barton as Cora, Sabrina Zawierucha as Willa, and Hazel Herring as Police.

There are only four performances, so buy your tickets soon! Hope to see you there.

Director's Reception Canceled

The Director's Reception for Anything Goes, previously scheduled for November 2nd, has been canceled. There will still be a regular show that evening. If you already bought tickets for this event, please visit or call the Box Office at 541-790-8010 about getting your tickets refunded.

The Director's Reception is planned to take place during the opening weekend of Carousel, our winter musical. This event is a fundraiser to improve our computer lab that is used for lighting and set design students. The evening will include a beverage, dessert, and talk with our director Pat Avery. More information to follow!

OTEA Leadership Summit

Last weekend, two student representatives from the South Eugene Theater department attended the Oregon Thespian Leadership Summit in Portland. South has been a member of the OTEA Thespian Society since 1946, and attends state and regional conferences annually. The theme of this year's summit was unity. Students from thespian troupes throughout Oregon got together to work towards creating a greater sense of community on troupe, regional, and statewide levels.

One of the major outcomes of the weekend was an agreement for South to maintain a connection with Lebanon, North Medford, and Eagle Point High Schools. South Eugene Theater will make an effort to support these schools by attending their performances and lending costumes, props, and set pieces.

People are encouraged to visit Oregon Thespians' new website, <http://www.oregonthespians.dreamhosters.com/>, for information about the organization and upcoming events.
